

archive company profile

TVP Archive is a partnership between three major industry service providers; JCAtv, TVP Group and Cambridge Imaging Systems. We came together with a view to providing cost effective end to end solutions to some of the current issues facing archivists.

With expertise in motion picture, transfer, encoding, asset management and data storage TVP Archive is the first end to end solution for archivists.

As we approach the digital world there has been considerable frustration that archivists have to trade "piece meal" between the service providers particular areas of expertise, essentially "plotting a pathway" to the desired goal themselves. In response to this dilemma we have collaborated, offering combined knowledge and therefore a joined up service: a safety net from procedural incompatibility.

A consultative beginning allows us to gauge the client's needs and to agree a workflow to meet archivists' technical and financial expectations. This "pathway" may be an isolated service such as format migration or many services from migration through to an e-commerce solution for file based access and commercial exploitation.

Inclusive services from transfer, migration, restoration, encoding/digitisation, digital asset management, data storage, tape storage, film storage, live disc storage and distribution.
